Supporting drug development, improving patient outcomes

Companion Diagnostic Development Services

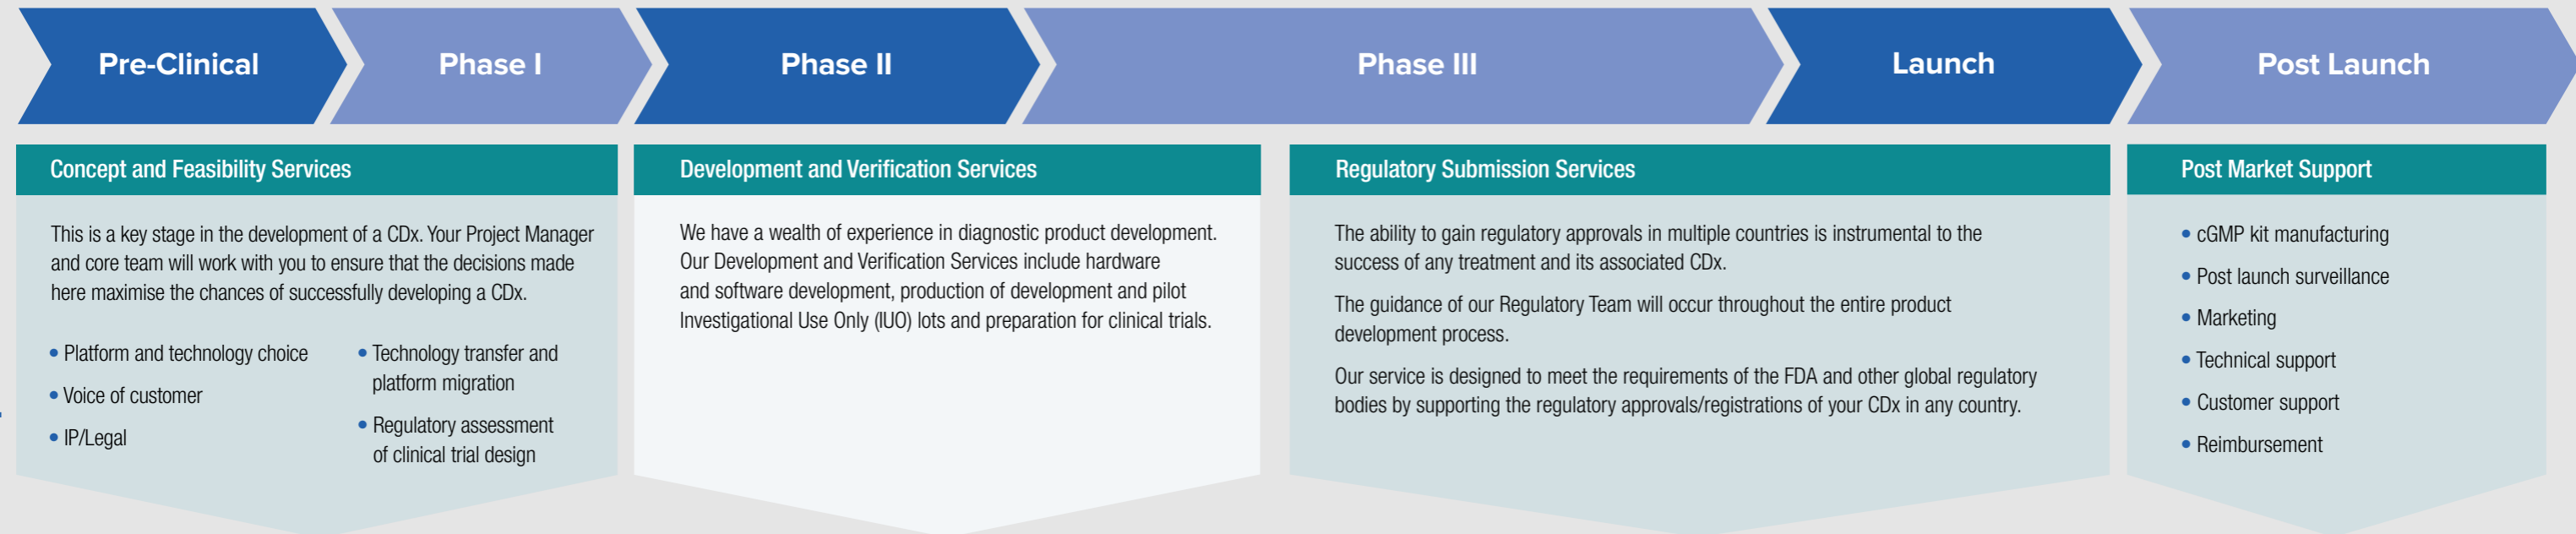

Hologic's Tepnel Pharma Services is uniquely placed to provide a front-to-end CDx development service.

We can support CDx development from early pre-clinical research and biomarker discovery through to the development, manufacture and regulatory approval of a CDx test. We support all stages of the CDx development process, including design control, cGMP kit manufacture, validation studies, production of Investigational Use Only assays for use in clinical trials and regulatory submission.

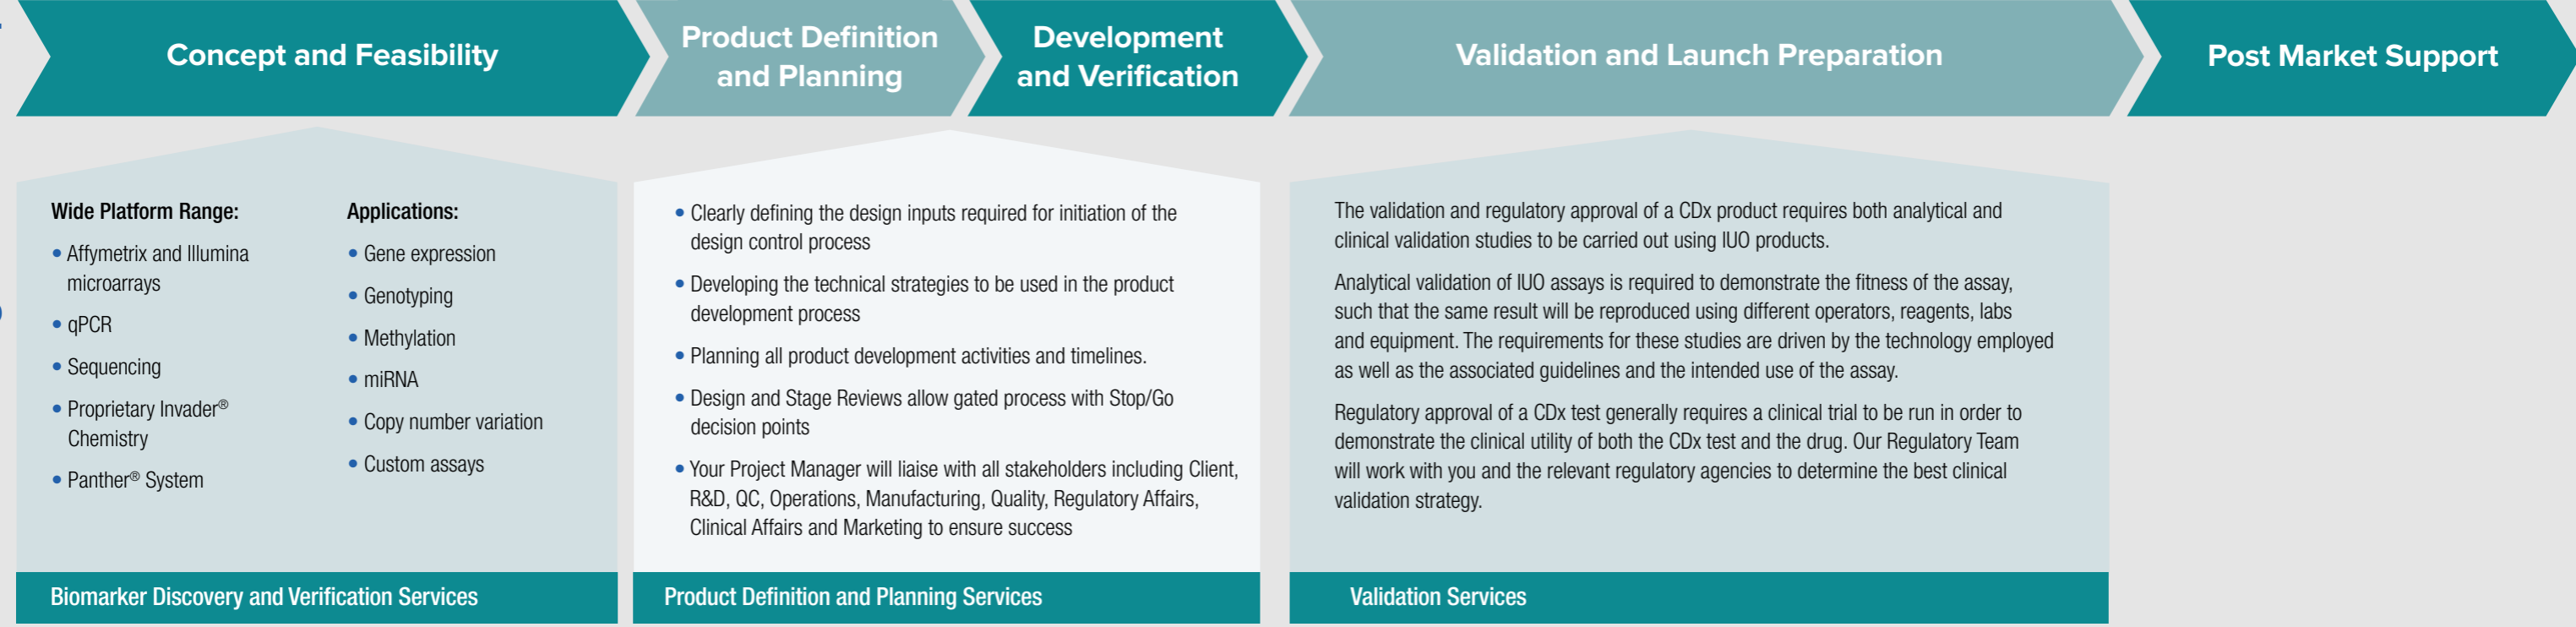

Key highlights to our services:

- Fee-for-service
- Flexible IP strategy
- Proprietary chemistries and Dx hardware
- Proven diagnostic track history
- Front-to-end CDx service
